Assistant/Associate Professor Position
Agricultural Education
College of Agriculture

CSU, Chico and the College of Agriculture seek candidates whose teaching, research, or service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education. EO/M/F/Vet/Dis

The Position:  The College of Agriculture invites applications for a tenure-track, academic year position in Agricultural Education beginning in the 2018-19 academic year, with the option to begin in spring 2018. The position includes the expectation the incumbent will conduct research consistent with his or her teaching assignment. Position is contingent on funding.  Recruitment ID# FA0102

Minimum Qualifications:  The minimum education requirement for appointment to this position is a Ph.D. (or Ed.D.) in agricultural education or related areas such as agricultural mechanics or agricultural communications. Candidates nearing completion of the doctorate may be considered; however, all requirements for the doctorate must be complete prior to the beginning of the academic year (August, 2018). Additional qualifications include:

- Earned Doctorate in Agricultural Education or closely related field
- Demonstrated interest and commitment to undergraduate education
- Demonstrated ability and experience in teaching secondary agricultural education
- Excellent written and oral communication skills in the English language
- Demonstrated ability and experience in applied research
- Demonstrated commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Recent experience in undergraduate instruction
- Experience with interdisciplinary undergraduate teaching teams
- Demonstrated ability to work with the agricultural industry
- Demonstrated ability/experience in academic program development and support

Responsibilities:  This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship (grants, etc) and service (student advising, etc). The successful applicant’s teaching and research programs are expected to contribute to interdisciplinary approaches to agricultural education. As a member of an integrated team, the successful applicant will provide lecture and field instruction in agricultural education and teaching methods for secondary teachers; agricultural equipment and mechanics; supervise student teachers; advise undergraduate and graduate students and serve as advisor to student organizations; participate in the development of the agricultural education program; conduct research in an area related to teaching responsibilities and industry needs; serve on appropriate College and University committees; participate in outreach conferences, activities, and other programs within the College of Agriculture; and work closely with the local agricultural community. Actual teaching assignments are based upon the needs of the College. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

Salary:  Salary commensurate with education and experience.

The College:  The College of Agriculture serves approximately 900 undergraduate students, leading to a Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Business, Animal Science, or Agriculture (options in Agricultural Education and Plant Science). Additionally, the College offers a Master of Science in Agricultural Education. The hallmark of our program is an integrated, interdisciplinary curriculum that is organized without separate departments. The program is enhanced by the 800-acre university farm, more information can be found at http://www.csuchico.edu/ag

Closing Date:  Review of applications will begin on begin October 31, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

How to Apply:  All applicants must apply online at:  http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/4488

Complete online applications will include: Curriculum vitae or resume, and transcripts (unofficial acceptable). Three letters of recommendation are also required for a complete application, however, they should be emailed to the committee chair.
