

www.allchicorentals.com Gets a Boost

Entrepreneur and Chico State student Kris Rudeegraap heads up the efforts behind www.allchicorentals.com.

A new web solution enabling students to easily find suitable housing in Chico will get off to a quick start with the help of the Chico State Accelerator Fund. The website, www.allchicorentals.com, will soon represent dozens of other university towns throughout California and across the country. The project is the brainchild of Chico State entrepreneurship students, Kris Rudeegraap and Jeff Schnepfle, and features the latest web technology.

The Accelerator Fund invested $25,000 in allchicorentals.com in the form of a five-year convertible promissory note to help get the project off the ground. This project illustrates both the quality of Chico State entrepreneurship students and the commitment of the College of Business Center for Entrepreneurship to provide and support outstanding experiential learning opportunities.

The Chico State Accelerator Fund is a unique asset that sets the Chico State entrepreneurship program apart from other collegiate programs. Funds from the alumni-sponsored investment fund can be used to support student initiated projects and projects initiated from outside the university that offer outstanding experiential learning opportunities for Chico State students. Projects are individually evaluated by the Center for Entrepreneurship for both fit with the center's educational mission and commercial potential.

For more information about the Accelerator Fund, contact Ryne Johnson, Director, Center for Entrepreneurship at rljohnson@csuchico.edu.