Conversations on Diversity & Inclusion

Being an Ally: What it Means to You, What it Means to Others

Facilitated by Joe Wills, Public Affairs, and Stephanie Chervinko, Counseling & Wellness Center

Wednesday, April 16
NOON-1:00 PM
BMU 210

Despite some societal gains for people who are disenfranchised and discriminated against, the fight for equality and justice continues, and the need for allies is great. This Conversation of Diversity & Inclusion will focus on the benefits and challenges for people both wanting to be an ally and wanting to find an ally, with the goal of encouraging participants to join, or grow more deeply involved in, the allies movement.
