

Fall 2006

Conversations on Diversity

There is no mystery about it. Those words didn't come from a bottle. They didn't come from out of the air. They came from Mel Gibson. Maybe from a place inside Mel Gibson so dark and dank and deeply buried that it's a secret even to himself.

- Leonard Pitts Jr., (columnist for the Miami Herald)

America used to think we could tell bigots by their "hoods," but it wasn't true then and it isn't true now. All racists don't wear white hoods or live in Alabama. This year's Conversations on Diversity series explores sources and responses to the hate and fear around and within us.

Join Us

Every other Wednesday from noon - 1:00pm

(Snacks will be provided)

For more information,
contact Tray Robinson
898-4764

September 27, BMU 210

"I am not a bigot": Visible and Invisible Hate

Facilitated by Dr. Marvin Megibow, Professor of Psychology and Clinical Psychologist

October 11, BMU 304

Out of the Closet....and In Your Face?

Facilitated by Janelle Wilson, Queer Resource Center Coordinator, Southern Oregon Univ.

October 18, BMU 210

Stomp Out Stigma

Facilitated by Butte County Mental Health

November 8, BMU 210

Mechoopda: A Sense of Place

Facilitated by Arlene Ward, Cultural Coordinator for the Mechoopda Indian Tribe

November 29, BMU 210

Hate, Apology and Forgiveness: Where Do We Go From Here?

Facilitated by, TBA

Conversations on Diversity is a series of discussions sponsored by the Center for Multicultural and Gender Studies, the Women's Center and Building Bridges

