

Conversation on Diversity

Troops to College

Facilitated by Chris Prator, Disability Support Services Advisor

Noon - 1:00 pm

Student veterans represent a significant but often misunderstood addition to the rich diversity of CSU, Chico. Iraq and Afghanistan war veterans are enrolling at CSU, Chico in increasing numbers.

These men and women have different perspectives, needs, and goals than students entering college from high school. The panel will discuss challenges faced by student veterans, difficulties of those injured in combat, and the strengths they bring to a learning environment. The media have told us that many of those who return have experienced brain damage or show the symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. There is much more to the story. Take this opportunity to meet members of CSU, Chico's Student Veteran's Organization.

Bring your lunch and join us!
