*Please Note: All meeting dates are mandatory, unless noted as optional. If you can't arrange for time off for these dates, plan to take the class at the next opportunity. Faculty have great difficulty managing individual orientations for students who do not attend the orientations, and these students are at a disadvantage all semester, not fully understanding the course requirements and course features. Many courses have group work involved. Students who miss the initial group set-up meetings also have struggled, the whole group is at a disadvantage and some have not been successful. Therefore, faculty have determined to hold to requirements for mandatory orientations. Other meetings may be required as well, for group work and presentations, proctored tests, etc. We require few on-campus meetings, but when we do, you need to be prepared to attend.
