What makes great bosses great? How do managers succeed at helping their employees do their best work, and nurture a workplace that is happy and thriving? Based on the book, Work Happy, this webcast is designed to help you produce positive, immediate, and lasting results. Jill Geisler offers concrete steps for improving elements of management, including collaboration, communication, conflict resolution, motivation, coaching, and feedback. Work Happy will supercharge the skills and celebrate the values that make anyone look forward to going to work.

About Jill Geisler

Jill Geisler holds the Bill Plante Chair in Leadership & Media Integrity at Loyola University Chicago. She teaches and coaches leaders worldwide, in media and beyond. She is the author of the book, “Work Happy: What Great Bosses Know.” Her iTunes U podcasts for managers, “Q&A: Leadership and Integrity in the Digital Age” and “What Great Bosses Know” have been downloaded millions of times. Geisler was one of the country’s first female TV news directors, then went on to head the leadership programs of the respected Poynter Institute for sixteen years before accepting the chair at Loyola. She’s been inducted into several media halls of fame. Geisler has a bachelors degree in journalism from the University of Wisconsin and a masters in leadership studies from Duquesne University. Her management mantra is “Life’s too short to work with jerks.”
