

Art 493: An Example of Outline of Case Study

Length: Minimum 2,000 words (typed, double spaced, 12 point font with Time, 1 inch margins), plus visual supplements (e.g. Pictures, actual artworks, and so on)

Due: Final draft paper due is 11/30 (Tue.) and the Revised final one should be no later than December 9 (Thu.)!

1. Introduction (about 1-2 pages):

- 1) Name, age, grade of child.
- 2) Personality of the child
- 3) Your relationship to child: How do you know him/her?
- 4) What adults who know the child well will you be able to talk to?
- 5) Focus of your inquiry (goal):
 - Age, developmentally appropriate?
 - Importance of art in child's life?
 - What do you hope to learn from this experience?
 - Do adults in child's life value art?

2. Observation record with the date- minimum three observations (one hour each) minimum (about 7-10 pages)

- 1) How did you spend time with the child to observe and participate in art activities? (At school, at home, at an art museum, at the park, observing spontaneous artwork, etc.)
- 2) What kinds of artwork did you ask the child to do (or did the child do?)
- 3) Did he/she like or dislike it and why?
- 4) What was the environment like? (E.g. How was weather? Were there people around?)

For example

- 1) Journal of the first day (specific date)
- 2) Journal of the second day (specific date)
- 3) Journal of the third day, the fourth day, and the ??? day ... (specific date)

3. Conclusion: Interpretation based on developmental theories (about 1-2 pages)

4. Visual information: Pictures of the child/children and the artworks (Put labels)

5. References (e.g., Chapter 5 in textbook, a handout of Lowenfeld's Theory, and others)

 Please follow the APA (5^h. Edition) style.*