Who Majors in History?
The student of history is a traveler in many lands. Like all travel, the study of the past—whether in a single course or a dozen—broadens and enriches the human mind and the human personality. We do not believe that history is a product—you cannot sell it, eat it, sleep with it, buy it, trade it, or give it to your mother as a birthday present. Instead the study of history helps us to become decent, literate, humane, compassionate, knowledgeable people who recognize that we cannot deal with the present or prepare to cope with the future without an understanding of the past. Moreover, it is from a study of the past that we acquire familiarity with the great tradition of human values and human dignity.

What Can I Do with a History Degree?
The study of history can lead to professional work in the field—as a teacher or professional historian in governmental and private agencies. It is also valuable for those going into other professions, such as government service, law, librarianship, journalism, publishing, labor, business, and theology. But also the study of history produces in general the kind of person who is capable of handling many different jobs and positions where the knowledgeable, the intelligent, the humane, and the perceptive are in demand. People who bring with them a broad understanding of their society and who have command of the English language, spoken and written, are of high value in many fields and to thousands of employers. This means that history majors have a wide variety of careers open to them.

What About a History Minor/Second Major?
History is unique: no field of knowledge is alien to it, since history encompasses all knowledge about the past. The study of history is a supportive and integrative discipline, designed to broaden your knowledge of the past, to support your study in other areas, and to bring to bear the discipline of history on other fields of knowledge. The History department encourages students to minor or to take it as a second major.

Interested in Teaching?
The Single Subject Teaching Credential in Social Science offers pre-professional preparation for those considering teaching history and social studies at the junior high and high school levels. Advising is mandatory.

Honors in History
If you perform well in your major courses you may be invited to pursue an individual research project working closely with a faculty member whose area of expertise matches the topic you wish to investigate.

Certificate Program
The Certificate in Public History prepares students for non-teaching careers as historians. Emphasis is placed on skills and knowledge necessary for public and private sector employment in historic preservation, historic site assessment, and archival management.

Internship Program
By providing practical experience in local museums, libraries, and public archives, internships help students prepare for jobs in public agencies or business.

Faculty
The faculty of the History Department at Chico are highly trained and experienced with a reputation for popular teaching and serving student needs unexcelled in the university. Most have published their research, and others have work in progress. Together they offer a diversity of survey and upper-division courses in a wide range of fields.

Electives Requirement:
To complete the total units required for the bachelor’s degree, select additional elective courses from the total university offerings. You should consult with an adviser regarding the selection of courses which will provide breadth to your university experience and possibly apply to a supportive second major or minor.

Grading Requirement:
All courses taken to fulfill major course requirements must be taken for a letter grade except those courses specified by the department as Credit/No Credit grading only.

Advising Requirement:
Advising is mandatory for all majors in this degree program. Consult your undergraduate adviser for specific information.

Honors in the Major

Honors in the Major is a program of independent work in your major. It involves 6 units of honors course work completed over two semesters. Your honors work will be recognized at your graduation, on your permanent transcripts, and on your diploma. It is often accompanied by letters of commendation from your mentor in the department or the department chair. Most importantly, however, the Honors in the Major program allows you to work closely with a faculty mentor in your area of interest on an original performance or research project. This year-long collaboration allows you to work in your field at a professional level and culminates in a public presentation of your work. Students sometimes take their projects beyond the university for submission in professional journals, presentation at conferences, or competition in shows; such experience is valuable for graduate school and later professional life.

Some common features of Honors in the Major program are:

1. You must take 6 units of Honors in the Major course work. At least 3 of these 6 units are independent study (499H) as specified by your department.
2. You must complete each class with a minimum grade of B.
3. Your cumulative GPA should be at least 3.5 or within the top 5 percent of majors in your department.
4. Your GPA in your major should be at least 3.5 or within the top 5 percent of majors in your department.
5. Most students apply for or are invited to participate in Honors in the Major during the second semester of their junior year. Then they complete the 6 units of course work over the two semesters of their senior year.
6. Your honors work culminates with a public presentation of your Honors project.

While Honors in the Major is part of the Honors Program, each department administers its own program. Please contact your major department or major adviser for further information.

History and Economics Double Major

Students may elect a History and Economics double major. Up to 6 units of appropriate upper-division Economics (ECON) courses may be applied to the History major. Prior approval by a department adviser and the chair is required.

History and Geography Double Major

Students may elect a History and Geography double major. Up to 6 units of appropriate upper-division Geography (GEOG) courses may be applied to the History major. Prior approval by a department adviser and the chair is required.

THE SINGLE SUBJECT TEACHING CREDENTIAL IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

Course Requirements for the Single Subject Teaching Credential: 64 units

In most majors, candidates for this credential will normally fulfill the single subject matter preparation program by completing the appropriate education option in the major. Any exceptions to this procedure are noted at the end of this section. In addition to the single subject matter preparation program, completion of an additional professional education program is required to qualify for a California teaching credential. Professional education (credential) programs are available through the School of Education. For prerequisites and other admission requirements to professional education programs, see the “Education” chapter of this catalog.

Your departmental credential adviser is responsible for verifying that the subject matter preparation program has been completed. If you are interested in obtaining a teaching credential, confer with the appropriate credential adviser early in your university career. Department credential advisers can assist you in planning an educational program that meets both major and credential requirements.
Subject matter preparation requirements are governed by federal and state legislative action and approval of the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing. Requirements may change between catalogs. Please consult with your departmental credential adviser for current information.

The Social Science Credential Option within the History major described above fulfills all requirements for the single subject matter preparation program in Social Science.
