Disclaimers

Navigating advising resources effectively can greatly enhance your academic journey. Take a moment to acquaint yourself with the following disclaimers to optimize your experience with our department and other advising resources available on campus.

1. Sometimes students can be in the wrong space. Consider these other advising locations:
   a. Admissions or Orientation: New students, depending on your question(s), may need to first meet with either the Office of Admissions or New Student Orientation & Transition Programs.
   b. Graduation Advising: For questions related to graduating or applying to graduate.
   c. Major Advising: For specific questions about major or minor coursework?

2) When meeting with an advisor there are some things, you can do to make your advising experience better:
   a. Use a desktop or laptop instead of your phone (helpful but not required).
   b. Change your Zoom Name to match your name on file with Chico State.
   c. Have your camera turned on (helpful but not required).

3) When appearing on zoom, please treat the space as if you were in class. If you are laying down, without clothing, and/or inebriated; you may be asked to continue your advising session at a later date/time.
