2018 CSU Chico Public Mural Projects
CSUC Lockers

• Taking color theory, particularly Josef Albers, and the light waves of color, we painted a bank of lockers in Ayres Hall. The once industrial gray lockers are now a brilliant rainbow lighting our halls.
Niche

- Located on the exterior of the new Arts building across the street from Celestino’s Pizza, the Niche is a rotating mural. The current mural, student designed and painted, is “about a playful design, and whimsy” while proudly displaying the Chico State motto, “Today Decides Tomorrow”.
Chico State Art Students Volunteer and Create a Mural in Honor of Cesar Chavez

• Around 200 volunteers participated in the eighth annual 'Cats in the Community' day of service. Students spent the morning doing things like cleaning up trash around town and various other service projects.

• One of the main attractions was an amazing mural created by students from the Chico State Art & Art History department.

Chico state art students to be honored at the dedication of a new mural for the Corning Library

• The CSU Chico Department of Art & Art History Public Art Murals class will be honored at the dedication of the new Corning Library mural on May 10th at 4pm. Ryan Ramos, a Corning resident and one of the artists responsible for the design of the mural, will be on hand to discuss the project, and the importance of art in public spaces.

• Be sure to stop by the Corning Library and check out this awesome art piece in person!
Chico state art students paint mural for Los Molinos Library

• Four Chico State Art students (Kris Johnson, Laura Tranquilino, Audrey Cobb, and Valaree Thomas) finished a mural for the children’s section of the Los Molinos Library over the weekend. Tehema County Library Supervisor Todd Deck thanked the group for their hard work, saying, “I have already heard some fantastic feedback from our patrons and Friends of the Library group”. The four students (nicknamed the Space Whales after their artwork) are already looking forward to their next project!
Central Middle School in Oroville

- We painted 2 murals for the school. The first was using SnapEd funding, so the message had to be in line with the ideals of SnapEd; quality food choices and attention to school work. The second was painted by a few students over the summer break and celebrated the school’s marching band.
