Course Description and Goals

This is a broad-based introductory lecture course that surveys child development from a multidisciplinary scientific perspective. Multiple theoretical and practical aspects of development are presented and examined within a multicultural context. Development from birth through emerging adulthood is explored in three primary areas, or domains: physical, cognitive, and social emotional. This is not a course on parenting or how to properly raise a child, although there is considerable discussion of concepts relevant to this. Instead, the course is concerned primarily with historical and contemporary scientific theory and research on human development from conception through adolescence. This includes specific biological and environmental influences on development, addressing the longstanding debate of whether nature or nurture has the more powerful influence on human development. Additionally, the psychological and socio-cultural influences on development will be considered. Finally, diversity issues around children's identity, language development, inequity, access, and family patterns and practices are explored with an emphasis on identifying and challenging biases.

Child Development Mission Statement:

Within the context of the broader university commitment to higher education, the Department of Child Development offers opportunities for students to engage in the purposeful acquisition and integration of child development theory, research, and practical field experience. Specifically, the program centers on the foundations of child development (prenatal through adolescence), assessing children and environments (developmental needs, behavioral guidance, home, school, community); analyzing developmental contexts (including gender, ethnicity, social class, family, peers, culture); applying critical thinking skills in personal and professional settings; and influencing character and behavior.

Child Development Vision Statement:

Students in the Department of Child Development understand the development and environments that affect children and families. Students apply this knowledge, personally, and professionally, in a variety of settings, including human services and education. Faculty facilitate students' professional development by fostering collaborative learning environments that integrate high-quality teaching, mentoring, promoting scholarly activities, guiding relevant practical experiences, and modeling leadership. Graduates of the program are knowledgeable and reflective professionals with field experience, who recognize and value the uniqueness and diversity of children and families within and across multiple contexts.

Course Objectives & Contribution to the Child Development Major:

Upon completion of CHLD 252: Introduction to Child Development, the following course objectives describe competencies that students will demonstrate after completion of the course. For Child Development majors, the objectives of this course correspond to the following Student Learning Objectives (SLO's) as outlined by the Child Development Department:

1. Critical Thinking in Child Development

Critical thinking is a habit of mind, characterized by the comprehensive exploration of issues, ideas, artifacts, and events before accepting or formulating an opinion or conclusion. Students will use higher order thinking to evaluate information regarding child development.

2. Written Communication in Child Development

Written communication is the development and expression of ideas through iterative experiences which may include mixing texts, data, and images across the curriculum. Students will effectively articulate the scientific foundations of human development using professional style guidelines.

3. Oral Communication in Child Development

Oral communication is the ability to effectively share purposeful information designed to increase knowledge, to foster understanding, or to promote change in the listeners' attitudes, beliefs, or behaviors. Students will prepare and orally present information regarding children's development in professional contexts.

4. Information Literacy in Child Development

Information literacy includes the ability to know when there is a need for information, and to be able to identify, locate, evaluate, and effectively and responsibly use and share that information with appropriate audiences. Students will evaluate and disseminate information across contexts regarding the diversity that exists within human development.

5. Quantitative Literacy in Child Development

Quantitative literacy is a "habit of mind," competency, and comfort in working with data in order to reason and solve problems, and the ability to communicate information using words, tables, graphs, and equations. Students will analyze data as critical consumers of information regarding child development.

6. Professionalism in Child Development

Professionalism includes a multitude of behaviors that communicate respect, cultural humility, competence, and ethical behaviors. Students will demonstrate appropriate professional behavior in professional contexts.

Student Professional Behavior

The campus, both physical and virtual, is a professional setting. Please treat it as such by following standards for professional and ethical behavior in the classroom and when communicating with fellow students and your professor. This includes engaging in mutual respect, cooperation, and following course policies. In this course, we will be addressing some topics related to diversity and bias. A critical component of this exploration is respect for other students' opinions, and a goal of these activities is to continue the development of skills for communication and collaboration with those who may be different. If you have any questions about what constitutes professional behavior, please feel free to ask.

Email and Internet Access Requirements

For typical class communication, please use Canvas messages. For urgent messages, please email me at vsingleton@csuchico.edu.

Mode of Instruction (MOI) Details and Instructions

This section is in a fully online, asynchronous format and does not have scheduled meeting days and times. Students complete course activities and assignments as detailed in the course syllabus. Internet access required. The course is based on the philosophy that active engagement with the material fosters quality learning. Participation is crucial to the learning process and demonstrates respect both for your professor as well as fellow students. Students are encouraged to think about (rather than simply memorize) the concepts and issues presented in class in order to integrate and synthesize the information and are responsible for all material for the section exams. Additionally, it is anticipated that you will be spending 7.5 – 9 hours per week on activities related to this course (i.e., for most courses, two hours of out-of-class preparation is expected for each hour of in-class lecture, with one week of class consisting of 2.5 hours). Finally, class activities may require your text.

Dropping and Adding

You are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drops, academic renewal, etc. found <http://www.csuchico.edu/catalog/>. You should be aware of the new deadlines and penalties for adding and dropping classes.

Assessment

Course Requirements (please read carefully):	Points
1. Exams (300 points): Three 100-point non-cumulative exams will be completed. Dates are noted in the class schedule. These exams will consist of 50 multiple choice/matching/fill in questions drawn from the text &amp; Canvas activities. The use of books, notes and other class materials is acceptable and encouraged; however, these will be timed (75 minutes) and students must be prepared (e.g., completed readings and have studied) in order to finish within the time constraints. Students also must complete exams by themselves, without help from peers. Any unauthorized collaboration with peers on exams will count as academic dishonesty and result in students involved receiving a 0 on the exam. NO MAKEUPS OF EXAMS.	300
2. REVEL Activities (100 points): This fully mobile REQUIRED online resource will contain readings and chapter quizzes. Completion of activities online will result in points on REVEL. These points will be translated into a percentage (e.g., if you earn 85% of the points on REVEL, this will translate into 85 points toward your course grade). Due dates are listed in the course schedule. Please note that REVEL activities will be accepted late without any penalty up until specific dates listed (and highlighted) on the schedule. After these specific dates, REVEL activities cannot be completed for any points. Chapter 1-4 activities will be accepted until the day of Exam 1, Chapter 5-8	100 activities will be accepted until the day of Exam 2, and Chapter 9-12 activities will be accepted until the day of Exam 3.

Course Requirements (please read carefully):	Points
3. MyVirtualChild Activities (60 points): Through the MyVirtualChild online platform, you will explore issues related to child development by raising a virtual child. At three points throughout the course, you will be expected to have raised your child to a certain age and complete reflection essay questions (available via Bb). A typed, double-spaced, copy will be submitted via Canvas. It is expected these responses will be ~2 pages in length. Please note that simply raising the child to the expected age will earn you NO points. To earn points for MyVirtualChild: 1) Raise the child to EXPECTED age before completing essay 2) Write a reflection essay answering the prompt	60
4. Various Canvas Assignments (approximately 375 points): Since we do not meet in person, there will be assignments in Canvas that will take the place of lectures and in class time. Some are videos, some build on the text, some are discussions...be sure to check the folder weekly for your assignments. They are due at the end of each week and correspond directly with the week's topic.	~375

Late Policy

Late assignments will be accepted for one week past the due date, penalized 10% for each 24-hour period (INCLUDING weekends and holidays). No assignments will be accepted past one week after the due date; this means that the most credit you can receive on an assignment that is one week late is 30% of the original points. Exception to this policy are the exams and section REVEL due dates, for which no late submissions will be accepted/offered.

Grading Policy

This course has approximately 835 points and grades will be assigned as follows based on completion of the course requirements outlined in the next section.
