TRADITION AND CHANGE

SIXTH ANNUAL CALIFORNIA INDIAN CONFERENCE

October 25-28, 1990, University of California, Riverside

TRADITION AND CHANGE

This conference is dedicated to the memory of Rupert Costo, Cahuilla. A man whose life and work were an inspiration for all people. A generation ago, Rupert Costo characterized the challenges and problems in American Indian Studies in this way:

“In the past, Indians have had good reason to distrust and even scorn the professional researcher. Too often have they misinterpreted the Indian’s history, misrepresented their way of life. It becomes necessary now to correct the record, to write the history as it should be written.... Friends of the Indian may join in our great work, helping but not leading, aiding but not pushing, taking part but not taking over.”

From: The Indian Historian, 1, 1 (OCTOBER, 1964)

This conference was made possible through the support of the California Council for the Humanities, a state program of the National Endowment for the Humanities; the Center for Ideas and Society; the University of California, Riverside, Ethnic Studies Program; the Chancellor's Native American Advisory Committee; the Rupert Costo Chair in American Indian History; the University of California, Riverside Native American Students Association; the Joseph P. Sullivan and Jeanne M. Sullivan Foundation; and the University of California Humanities Research Institute.

The University of California, Riverside also welcomes the Society for California Archaeology that is meeting concurrently with the California Indian Conference on Saturday, October 27, 1990.

Videotapes by Native American artists are available for viewing in the University Art Gallery from noon to nine on Thursday, noon to eight on Friday, and noon until four on Saturday & Sunday.
