Rise, Teach, Learn
By CSU Chico Faculty Development

If we've proven anything as faculty in 2020, it's that we are capable of much more than we realize. In true Wildcat tradition, we too, we keep learning, and we share what we have learned. The Office of Faculty Development is excited to offer the FDEV Podcast: Rise, Teach, Learn. Join Dr. JamesLinn-Gunderson as she engages in conversations with faculty, and explores resources relevant to teaching and learning at Chico State.

Chico Affordable Learning Solutions (CAL$) provides resources to faculty regarding affordable course materials, including how to find and adopt quality zero-cost or low-cost textbooks and other materials, or create Open Educational Resources (OERS).
9/14/21

The FDEV team is excited to announce the launch of a 4-week student engagement challenge!
2/16/21

Lecturers, You Belong Here!
10/19/21

Participating in student-faculty research experiences at Chico State fosters student interests, expands their academic and professional skills, and provides them with authentic learning experiences in and outside the classroom.
11/30/21

Please continue sharing your needs so we can best respond to them and find solutions for ways to support you.

Dear faculty,

Do you know that faculty have a dedicated space in the Rose Garden Room (MLIB 459)?

As many of you have transitioned to in person classes, I want to make sure that you are aware of this wonderful space (with an amazing view of campus).

Faculty are welcome to use the Rose Garden Room Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. for writing, reading, grading, or just to take a break.

Per Meriam Library policy, food is currently not allowed and masked are required.

It is not a coincidence that the photos featured on the Faculty Development website include me: I have always found the Rose Garden Room an incredibly refreshing space to be productive while meeting new colleagues, and I hope that you will come enjoy this space (and “say hi” to us next door)!

Let us know how you like to use the Rose Garden Room by adding a comment below!

FDEV Zine
FDEV Zine

Following the zine tradition, this publication focuses on expression and creativity, so every issue will look different and will include contributions from the campus community.

The FDEV Zine is released monthly and includes news, information, and discussion about broad issues in higher education and the faculty experience at Chico State.

Read through our archive of issues with contributions from the FDEV Advisory Board, faculty fellows, program leads, colleagues, and campus partners.
