Utilities

You will need to have utilities and other services set up when you move in your new house or apartment. Most apartment leases include water and trash removal service in the monthly rent. If however you are renting a house, you might have to set up any services that you may need. In many cases you may be required to pay a deposit which may range anywhere between $50 and $100. If all the conditions of your agreement are kept, the deposit will be refunded when you end your service.

Note: PG&E is not responsible for the maintenance of appliances (refrigerators, stove, air conditioners). Contact your landlord for service and repairs.
