Learning with Peers:
Collaborative Learning, Discussions with Diverse Others
California State University, Chico

Learning is collaborative work. Collaborative learning requires students to mutually raise questions, seek understandings, and search for solutions in interactive group settings. Institutions emphasizing collaborative learning motivate students to learn from each other through peer teaching and knowledge exchange. Colleges and universities afford students new opportunities to interact with and learn from others with different backgrounds and life experiences. Interactions across difference, both inside and outside the classroom, confer educational benefits and prepare students for personal and civic participation in a diverse and interdependent world. These visuals display results for #27a-c and #28.
