

MSN Nurse Leader Track

Nurses gain advanced knowledge and skills in the area of nursing leadership in this part-time Master's program designed for working professionals. Courses emphasize foundations in research, technology, health systems, and conceptual principles of nursing leadership and management. Students develop the skills necessary to lead in broad and dynamic health care environments. The five semester curriculum combines online courses, two clinical experiences in the student's geographic region, and culminates in the completion of a graduate-level professional paper.
