discussed in the Resolution Regarding Equity Gaps² is necessary for cultivating humanizing relationships and positive educational experiences and outcomes for students of color, and responds to President Hutchinson’s call for “making Chico State a place where everyone can thrive.”

We take this stance because students of color have expressed that they are experiencing an increasingly hostile racial climate, both on and off campus. It is unjust for students of color to experience overt and/or covert forms of racism ideologically, systemically, and/or in practice. We assert that the U.S. legal system upholds structures that enshrine equality and mandated race-neutral policies and practices, thereby constricting dialogue and policy making concerning racism and equity, therefore systematically preventing the elimination of racism at all levels. Accordingly, U.S. public institutions that participate in these structures create barriers for meaningful transformation toward racial justice, perpetuate the unjust status quo, and ultimately contribute to the expansion of white supremacy.

Furthermore, we assert that race-neutral language (e.g. equality, diversity, inclusion), in the absence of equitable policies and practices, is problematic both in theory and in practice insofar as it normalizes existing power dynamics between people of color and their white counterparts. Such discourse works toward maintaining and/or expanding oppressive ideologies, policies, and practices. As a result, it is troubling for any public university to uphold race-neutral language when the institution serves students of color who are experiencing an expansion of oppressive, dehumanizing, and violent U.S. policies and practices – including, but not limited to: Executive Order 13769: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorists Entering the United States the rescinding of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, the termination of Temporary Protection Status (TPS), zero tolerance immigration and asylum policies, separation of families seeking asylum, racialized police violence, inequitable access to public education, and Eurocentric curriculum and practices in public schools.

Oppressive ideologies, policies, and practices negatively impact students of color. As a campus community we hold ourselves responsible toward creating policies and practices rooted in racial justice and a healthy campus culture. To this end, it is imperative that administrators, faculty, staff, and students exercise their collective power in service for and with students of color by honoring their humanity, dignity, and human rights. Administrators, faculty, staff, and students of color have the right to experience a healthy campus culture that is equitable, humanizing, and racially just.
